High-class luxury in Bonn Top-class climate from TROX

The new Kameha in Bonn is setting new standards for luxury hotels around the world. The lifestyle hotel is one of the best international real estate projects – in any case this was the opinion of the visitors and jury at the MIPIM, the leading trade fair for real estate in Cannes, who presented the hotel with the renowned MIPIM Award.

Designed by Bonn architect Karl-Heinz Schommer, the hotel is the new focal point of the "Bonner Bogen", a district built on the premises of a closed cement plant.

The Lifestyle Hospitality & Entertainment Group (LH&E Group) runs the hotel, which also has rooms to cater for a wide range of events. The 18-metre high, glass event hall, for example, can hold up to 2,500 people. The owner and investor of this 100-million euro project is the BonnVisio Group, which is also the owner of a range of other exclusive properties. The Group intends to build 20 hotels and resorts in total at unusual locations around the world by 2020.

The promise of LH&E hotels is comfort and wellbeing in all respects. This also applies for the air conditioning of the Kameha in Bonn. The engineering team therefore decided in favour of TROX as a supplier of countless grilles, slot, swirl and floor diffusers, volume flow controllers and sound attenuators. The smoke detectors and fire dampers from TROX guarantee people's safety.

Top Dutch designer Marcel Wanders was responsible for the interior design of the 5-star hotel. He also designed the interior of all 190 rooms and 63 suites in a neo-baroque style.

TROX is the leader in the development, manufacture and sale of components and systems for the air-conditioning and ventilation of rooms. With 25 subsidiaries across 22 countries and 14 production plants, TROX is the European market leader for ventilation and air-conditioning systems and enjoys worldwide success. Founded in 1951 and with a staff of about 3000 employees, TROX generated sales around the globe of more than €340 million in 2009. With more than 25 sales offices and over 50 representatives and importers, TROX products and concepts are known all over the globe.
